Whereas, West Virginia Aeronautics Commission is an agency of the West Virginia Department of Transportation. The West Virginia Airport Managers Association represents commercial and general aviation airports and industry partners throughout the Mountain State. West Virginia has 24 airports in the National Plan of Integrated Airport Systems: 7 Commercial Airports and 17 General Aviation airports; and

Whereas, Affordable, reliable and safe air service is integral to our communities, citizens, businesses and state. Commercial airports serve our state's 1.8 million residents and hundreds of thousands of visitors annually. General aviation airports open our state's rural landscape to countless companies to conduct business and often serve as community hubs; and

Whereas, Airports have played and will continue to play a critical role in the state's response to natural disasters, medical emergencies and search and rescue operations. Growth in air service in West Virginia equates to increased funding for improvements to West Virginia's airports. The inaugural West Virginia Aviation Day is hosted by the West Virginia Aeronautics Commission and the West Virginia Airport Managers Association; therefore
