

Will CBD Oil Cause You To Fail A Drug Test? Informational Video

1. Many retail CBD products are found to contain THC even though their labels state otherwise. Largely, the instructor states, due to a federal agency not regulating the products currently. What is the federal agency mentioned?
 - a. Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms
 - b. Food and Drug Administration
 - c. U. S. Department of Transportation
2. This video states that a high percentage of products have labels which show an inaccurate level of THC content. In the study he quotes, what percentage of products were found to have mis-label ingredients or levels of THC?
 - a. Nearly 64%
 - b. Close to 68%
 - c. Almost 70%
3. Considering the instructor's comments, would you say that an employee using CBD Oil
 - a. Has nothing to worry about when it comes to passing an employment drug test
 - b. Is likely to fail an employee drug test
4. CBD Oil, derived from cannabis sativa (hemp/marijuana) is legal to be sold in the U. S.

True

False
5. The instructor mentions many facts about THC. For example, it does not affect most individuals at small levels, and almost never causes impairment even when ingested at higher levels.

True

False